Efforts to Increase Affordable Housing & Provide Alternative Housing

Saturday, November 12

9:30 a.m. — Social Time

10:00 a.m. — Program

Oswego Heritage House

"A" Avenue and 10th St., Lake Oswego

Martha Schrader, Clackamas County Commissioner, will join us on November 12. She will talk about current efforts to increase affordable housing as well as provide alternative housing in our area. Martha has had a long-time interest in regional economic development and is particularly concerned with veterans' issues, especially the recent increase in homelessness.

Martha has served Clackamas County since 2003: as a Commissioner until 2009; as State Senator representing District 20 from 2009 to 2011; she was returned to the Board of Commissioners in 2012; and re-elected in May of this year for another four-year term running from 2017-2020.

Squire's Scribblings

by Pat Squire, President

November. Thanksgiving. Giving thanks. That's what most of us are thinking this time of year. And, of course, most of us are thinking of the upcoming election and preparing to vote by mail (and I am thankful for that!).

Close at home, here at AAUW LO, there are so many people I feel thankful for.

- ♦ A huge thanks to Karen Rottink, who originated and implemented the flower bulb sale for our branch scholarship, with much success! And thanks includes all of you who participated! Great job!
- ♦ A special thanks to Carol Cooper, who instituted and organized the voter registration/get out the vote drive at Marylhurst University and to all of you who helped out by staffing the table.
- ♦ A big thanks to Stephanie Carter for our excellent newsletters, and for the extra effort to produce our branch directory including all of our new members.

♦ Thanks to Donna Needham, for recruiting fantastic branch speakers and coordinating our programs. Wasn't Chief Justice Balmer wonderful?

♦ Thanks to Marty Maharg and all of our interest group leaders for keeping our group activities vibrant and on-track, and for successfully launching our new non-fiction book group.

♦ Thanks also go to volunteers like JoAnn Siebe, who completed the spreadsheet used for the directory; to Margaret Ricks for keeping our records and new members up-to-date; to Penny Hansen, for coordinating volunteers to help with our branch meetings; to Dixie Kroupa for our new nametags; and to Robi Ingram-Rich for our policy information.

♦ There are many other volunteers who pitch in when help is needed, and I'm thankful for each and every one of you. I value all of our members and am pleased with your active participation.

I look forward to seeing you at our November 12 branch meeting with Clackamas County Commissioner and member Martha Schrader, and at our fun and festive holiday "gala" on December 4 at Karen Rottink's home.

Pat

Martha earned a B.S. from Cornell University, an M.S. in entomology from the University of Illinois, and a Master's degree in education from Portland State University. She has worked as an entomologist, a school teacher and a librarian and, until recently, owned and operated Three Rivers Farm in Canby. We are fortunate to have her as a guest speaker, but especially fortunate to have her as a member of our AAUW chapter in Lake Oswego.

Meet Jeanne-Marie Pierrelouis

by Karen Rottink

Jeanne-Marie Pierrelouis moved here from Maryland with her husband in June of this year. In August, Jeanne-Marie was shopping at the Lake Oswego Farmers' Market when she spotted our AAUW LO information table. She stopped to chat and happily signed up to join our group. I met her at the Lunch Bunch. Jeanne-Marie told us that her recent retirement and her son's graduation from university (and subsequent job at an outdoor school in the redwoods in California) freed her and her husband, Clause, to move to the lovely Portland area which they had scouted out previously.

Jean-Marie said she is very community service oriented because she is a Quaker. She was animated when she talked about collaborating with other AAUW LO members to identify a community service project and help to make it happen. Her enthusiasm was contagious. She and a number of Lunch Bunch members resolved to have a meeting to explore community service projects in which our branch could participate. (If you are interested in being part of this exploration, please contact Pat Squire at pfsquire@gmail.com.)

Later, I met with Jeanne-Marie to learn more about her background. She takes a big picture view and focuses on bringing people together to enable synergistic, inclusive action. For example, her last job of nine years was working for the American Council on Education (ACE), a professional association for presidents of colleges and universities. Funded by the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), Jeanne-Marie linked United States colleges and universities to universities in the developing world, mostly in Africa and Latin America. One big success story was the ACE collaboration with the University of Liberia (UL). Civil war destroyed UL. Prior to the war, UL had a fairly good public health school. Jeanne-Marie, via ACE and funded through USAID, fostered a robust relationship between Indiana University (IU) and the UL School of Public Health. This synergistic relationship resulted in the rebuilding of the UL School of Public Health. The long term result has been an ongoing relationship between IU and UL, including joint research projects, joint publications and other collaborations.

Prior to ACE, Jeanne-Marie worked for 17 years at the National Association of International Educators (NAIE). NAIE is made up of university professionals involved with international programs. She held many positions at NAIE, including running grant programs, membership functions and conferences. This evolved into running a huge annual conference hosting 10,000 international educators where many collaborations were formed.

Save Your Hardcover Books and Current "Trade" Paperbacks

We will be having another book sale in conjunction with our February meeting (Lake Oswego Reads). Please hang on to your fairly current hardcover and trade paperback books. (Trade paperbacks are the more expensive ones, not the mass market!) We will collect them in January. Thank you in advance.

Beginning Bridge II

November 4, 1:00-4:00pm
Susan Hornung's House

In our second session we will learn the Jacoby transfer convention, "the power of the pre-empt" for bidding long suits, and if we have time, playing randomly dealt hands. We need two or three more people for this lesson.

Exploring the Northwest Date Varies

Several times each year this group explores an Oregon site and enjoys a meal together. For more information, contact Sue Kinzett, (503) 706-8184 (cell), sezett@msn.com

Meet Diana Bower

by Dixie Kroupa

Diana Bower and her husband, David, moved to Lake Oswego two years ago to be closer to their son. They also have a son and grandchildren in St. Helena, California, where they visit often.

Diana attended Hobart William Smith College in the Finger Lakes region of New York State, and completed her Spanish degree at the State University of New York at Buffalo. She taught French and Spanish at a small independent school for a number of years, and later taught at a public school. While teaching, she participated in a Fulbright teacher exchange program and taught in Casa Blanca and Mexico City.

Diana and David spent eight years in Santa Fe, near family, and later in California, again near family.

They love to travel and have been to some 36 countries around the world. They traveled to Vietnam this fall, where Diana says they enjoyed the lovely country, the great food, and the friendly people.

The couple has joined a local hiking group, and Diana is looking forward to getting more involved with AAUW. She enjoys reading, so you may see her at one of our book groups soon!

Jeanne-Marie is very interested in exploring Lake Oswego and surrounding areas. This includes a keen interest in ecology. She loves hiking at Tryon Creek State Park. She also enjoys gardening and photography. Her special local concern is affordable housing for young, middle class families in the Portland area.

Jeanne-Marie is eager to become involved with AAUW LO. She already helped with our voter registration project at Marylhurst University.

Meet Judy Schaumburg

by Ann Keddie

Judy attended Purdue University as a freshman before transferring to Arizona State University thereafter ... a boyfriend was waiting. Judy completed a B.S. degree, majoring in home ec with a minor in science. Later she attended Oregon State University, receiving a M.S. focusing on child development with a minor in counseling.

Judy taught school both in Arizona and Indiana with a lot of substitute teaching in Corvallis, Oregon.

She has two married daughters; Susie lives in Lake Oswego and is a dentist while Cindy lives in Illinois.

Judy and her family lived in Venezuela, Costa Rica, and also in Japan during sabbatical years. Travel has always been a treasured experience so “living” vs. “visiting” was indeed special.

Judy loves most sports, especially golf these days. With a recent total knee replacement, she looked forward to this summer. Other fun activities include reading, swimming, cooking, and spending time with friends and family.

The move to Charbonneau was an attempt at downsizing after many years of discussing such a change. Corvallis had been home for 49 years. She may have left it behind but not those Beavers!!
